TWO THOUSAND THIRTEEN

MESSAGE from the CHANCELLOR

Dear Graduates and Families:

The University of North Carolina is the oldest public institution of higher education in the country. It embodies the hopes for a democratic nation and the promise that education could make that democracy and the world better for future generations. We still believe in that promise at Carolina, and that is why we celebrate your graduation today.

The world has changed a lot since you entered UNC, and it needs you. Thanks to your Carolina education, you are ready for it. You have learned how to propose new ideas and have gained a worldview to understand their implications. You know the importance of extending opportunities to everyone.

On behalf of our faculty and staff, thank you to all the family members and friends who helped you through your educational journey. We know that you could not have done it without their love and support.

Welcome to the ranks of Tar Heel alumni who have gone out into the world and made a difference. We know you will, too. Carolina and Chapel Hill will be here for you. No matter where you go, you can count on our love and support. We can't wait to hear from you.

ALMA MATER

The words of "Hark the Sound," UNC–Chapel Hill's alma mater, were written in 1897 by William Starr Myers, a graduating senior. The Glee Club director asked Myers to put words to the tune "Amici," and the song was first performed on June 2, 1897, as part of the Glee Club's Commencement performance in Gerrard Hall.

Soon the song was almost forgotten. When a University quartet tried a few years later to remember the words, they could recollect only the first verse and the chorus of Myers' original version. Two members of the quartet, Charles S. Mangum and Charles T. Woollen, added two verses to the one they remembered. Mangum later became a professor in the School of Medicine, and Woollen worked as the University's business manager and comptroller.

HARK THE SOUND

Hark, the sound of Tar Heel voices
Ringing clear and true,
Singing Carolina's praises,
Shouting N.C.U.!

Hail to the brightest star of all!
Clear its radiance shine!
Carolina, priceless gem,
Receive all praises thine.

THE OLD WELL

At the heart of the campus stands the visual symbol of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. For many years the Old Well served as the sole water supply for Old East and Old West dormitories. In 1897, the well was given its present decorative form at the direction of President Edwin A. Alderman, who described his beautification project as largely derived from the Temple of Love in the Garden of Versailles. In 1954, the well was given added beauty with brick walks, plantings and benches. Legend holds that students can bring good luck with a drink from the Old Well on the first day of classes.

HOLDEN THORP

Chancellor

Holden Thorp took office as Carolina's 10th chancellor on July 1, 2008. He has invested three decades of his life at the University, starting as an undergraduate student. Through his research, Thorp developed technology for electronic DNA chips and founded spin-off companies. He raised money for a science complex that has helped boost faculty research productivity, served as director of the Morehead Planetarium and Science Center and was dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Thorp announced in September 2012 that he planned to step down, effective June 30, 2013. He will become provost of Washington University in St. Louis on July 1 and hold an endowed professorship with appointments in chemistry and medicine.

A North Carolina native, Thorp grew up in a Fayetteville family steeped in UNC traditions dating to the 1800s. When he graduated from Terry Sanford High School, the only college on his application list was Carolina, where he earned a bachelor of science degree with honors in 1986.

Attending a world-class research university — where the same people conduct research and teach — allowed Thorp to work in chemistry labs with top faculty and inspired him to become a professor. He pursued that dream at the California Institute of Technology, where he earned a doctorate in chemistry in 1989, and at Yale University for postgraduate work. After teaching a year at NC State, he returned to UNC to teach chemistry in 1993. He was chair of the chemistry department and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences before becoming chancellor.

Thorp is driven to be sure that UNC students today have the same opportunities that he had as an undergraduate. "Carolina students are inspired to tackle the great problems facing the world," he says.

Thorp's priorities include protecting Carolina's legendary commitment to providing a high-quality education at an affordable price—core values that have kept the University and the chancellor in the spotlight as leaders during a national debate about college costs and the future of U.S. higher education. Thorp was among a dozen college presidents and higher education leaders invited to the White House with the president to discuss how campuses can become more affordable while producing more graduates.

The chancellor serves on the national Commission on Higher Education Attainment, which was created by the six presidentially based higher education associations to chart a course for improving college retention and attainment and, in turn, restoring the nation's higher education preeminence. He is also on the national Homeland Security Academic Advisory Council.

Under Thorp's leadership, UNC launched "Innovate@Carolina: Important Ideas for a Better World," a roadmap for innovation in science, business, medicine, nonprofits and academia. He serves on the president's National Advisory Council on Innovation and Entrepreneurship, which held its first national forum in Chapel Hill, and co-authored "Engines of Innovation — The Entrepreneurial University in the 21st Century," a UNC Press book that makes the case for the pivotal role of research universities as agents of societal change. Royalties support innovation at UNC. He has published 130 scholarly articles on the electronic properties of DNA and RNA, holds 12 issued U.S. patents and co-founded Viamet Pharmaceuticals, which is developing drugs for prostate cancer and fungal infections. In 2012, Thorp was selected a charter fellow of the National Academy of Inventors, a nonprofit organization that recognizes investigators who translate their research findings into inventions to benefit society. Most recently, he was honored with the establishment of the Chancellor Holden Thorp Faculty Engaged Scholars Endowment at the Carolina Center for Public Service. He was also named chair of a new National Research Council committee tasked with establishing and promoting a culture of safety in academic laboratory research.

An accomplished musician who plays jazz bass and keyboard, Thorp is married to Patti Worden Thorp, a Hope Mills native and UNC Greensboro graduate. Their children are John and Emma.

DAN ARIELY

Social scientist Dan Ariely is the James B. Duke Professor of Psychology and Behavioral Economics at Duke University, where his academic affiliations span business, cognitive neuroscience, economics and medicine.

He is renowned for research that explains psychological processes determining day-to-day human decisions and for his effectiveness in communicating the possible implications of this human behavior. He is the author of a widely read Wall Street Journal column called "Ask Ariely," and is the author of three books (all New York Times bestsellers): "Predictably Irrational: The Hidden Forces That Shape Our Decisions," "The Upside of Irrationality: The Unexpected Benefits of Defying Logic at Work and at Home," and his most recent work, titled "The Honest Truth About Dishonesty: How We Lie to Everyone — Especially Ourselves."

Additionally, Ariely is the founding member of the Center for Advanced Hindsight, based at Duke, where research topics are as diverse as wealth distribution, dating behavior, health care and consumer decisions.

Ariely received his master's degree and doctorate in cognitive psychology from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He went on to receive a second doctorate in business administration from Duke.

Before joining the Duke faculty, Ariely held academic appointments at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (1998–2008), the University of California at Berkeley (2001–2002) and the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton (2005–2007).

STEPHEN McCONNELL CASE

DOCTOR OF LAWS

Steve Case is a businessman and philanthropist, and was recently described by CNBC as "one of the nation's greatest entrepreneurs." In 1985, Case co-founded America Online, which under his leadership became the world's largest and most valuable Internet company, and helped drive the worldwide adoption of a medium that has transformed business and society. Focusing on communication features such as chat rooms, instant messaging and forums, AOL was a pioneer of the concept of social media. Case later negotiated what remains the largest merger in business history between AOL and Time Warner, and served as chair of the combined company until 2003. In 2005, he returned to his entrepreneurial roots and launched Revolution, an investment firm that seeks to partner with entrepreneurs in building businesses that give people more choice, control and convenience in important areas of their lives. Through Revolution, Case has invested in more than two dozen companies, including LivingSocial and Zipcar. A resident of the Washington, DC area for more than 25 years, Case is also an ardent supporter of entrepreneurs in the nonprofit and public policy arenas. In 2011, President Obama appointed him chair of the Startup America Partnership, a private sector initiative aimed at spurring the growth of entrepreneurial ecosystems across the United States. Case also served on the President's Council on Jobs and Competitiveness, where he chaired the efforts focused on entrepreneurship, and currently co-chairs the National Advisory Council on Innovation and Entrepreneurship. Believing in the mantra of "to whom much is given, much is expected," Case also has deep philanthropic roots. In 1997, he and his wife Jean created the Case Foundation, which unites the principles of entrepreneurship, innovation and technology to make philanthropy and giving more effective. The Case Foundation has invested in hundreds of organizations, initiatives and partnerships over the past 15 years. In addition, the Cases joined The Giving Pledge, started by Bill Gates and Warren Buffett, and publicly reaffirmed their commitment to give away the majority of their wealth. Case's honors include the National Mentoring Partnership Leadership Award, the Junior Achievement U.S. Business Hall of Fame and appointment as a Citizen Regent of the Smithsonian Institution. Case is no stranger to Carolina, having visited the campus in 2011 to speak and participate with Chancellor Holden Thorp in the first national forum of the National Advisory Council on Innovation and Entrepreneurship.

Honorary Degree Recipient

BERNARD J. FLATOW

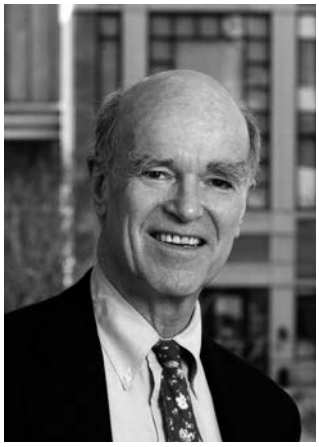
DOCTOR OF LAWS

Bernard Flatow began his academic career at George Washington University with the idea of becoming a diplomat, but timely advice from a mentor pointed him toward Carolina's then unrivalled Spanish program with the likes of Sturgis Leavitt, Sterling Stoudemire, Ralph Boggs and Nicholas Adams. Flatow earned his B.A. in Latin American Studies from Carolina in 1941 and used that foundation to begin a lifelong career in interactions between America and Latin America. He became a diplomat not in the world of political affairs but in the world of business and public relations. In the 1950s, Flatow worked in Bolivia as director of public relations for one of the largest tin mining companies in the world and later in a similar position for The Texas Company and Sinclair in Colombia and Venezuela. From the mid-1960s through the mid-1980s, Flatow handled public relations in Latin America for Pepsi-Cola and 20th Century Fox. He used these extensive contacts with Latin America to spearhead exchange programs. One brought 54 Mexican professionals in 21 areas of study to Chapel Hill. Another created an exchange program between Venezuela and the Kenan–Flagler Business School, and a third exchanged specialists in physical therapy and rehabilitation of the blind between Mexico and Carolina's School of Medicine. This work garnered Flatow membership in the Mexican Institute of Culture as the first, and at the time only, North American member of that distinguished body. Starting in 1949, Flatow began collecting rare books pertaining to the early history of European contacts with the New World. His specialty was cronistas — journals kept by Spanish and Portuguese explorers documenting the discovery, conquest and colonization of what Europeans called the New World. Today, the Bernard J. Flatow Collection of Latin American Cronistas, housed in Carolina's Rare Book Collection, is one of very few such collections in the world. The collection has attracted widespread scholarly interest and stands as one of the priceless gems in Carolina's renowned collection of library materials. Flatow's awards include the General Alumni Association's Distinguished Service Medal (1983), the Board of Trustees' William Richardson Davie Award (1987), and the Silver Anvil Award from the Public Relations Society of America for the introduction of Sesame Street in Latin America in both Spanish and Portuguese.

Honorary Degree Recipient

JOEL LAWRENCE FLEISHMAN

DOCTOR OF LAWS



Joel Fleishman earned three degrees from Carolina (B.A., 1955; J.D., 1959; M.A., 1960) and one from Yale (LL.M., 1960). He was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa and the Order of the Golden Fleece. Although many of Carolina's alumni have gone on to make extraordinary contributions in a wide variety of venues, few, if any, can match the singular career of Joel Fleishman in all its elements: professor, university administrator, author, scholar, public servant, philanthropist and expert on fine wines. After completing his studies at Yale, Fleishman joined the administration of Governor Terry Sanford as his legal assistant. In that position, he was instrumental in the establishment of the Governor's School and the North Carolina School of the Arts. He then returned to Yale where he helped establish the Center for the Study of the City, an early leader in encouraging scholarly research on urban problems. In 1971, he rejoined Governor Sanford, then president of Duke University, to found what is now known as the Sanford School of Public Policy. Subsequently, he held a series of senior leadership positions at Duke, culminating in his appointment as first senior vice president. In 1993, he became president of The Atlantic Philanthropic Service Company, which provides program staff for one of the world's largest private charitable foundations. In 2003, Fleishman returned to Duke to provide leadership in numerous initiatives, most recently as faculty chair for the Center for Strategic Philanthropy and Civil Society. Since the 2007 publication of his book "The Foundation: A Great American Secret — How Private Wealth is Changing the World" and the 2011 release of another book, "Give Smart: Philanthropy That Gets Results," which he co-authored with Thomas J. Tierney, Fleishman has emerged as the leading expert on increasing the impact of philanthropic institutions. Along the way, he shared his love of fine wines by writing a monthly column on wine for Vanity Fair and serving as wine consultant to The 21 Club in New York. He currently serves as chair of the Board of Trustees of the Urban Institute, and formerly was chair of the Visiting Committee of the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard. Fleishman is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. His honors include Carolina's Distinguished Alumnus Award (1999); Duke University's highest award, The University Medal (2009); and honorary degrees from Methodist College and Ben-Gurion University of the Negev in Israel.

Honorary Degree Recipient

FREEMAN A. HRABOWSKI III

DOCTOR OF LAWS

Freeman A. Hrabowski is president of the University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC). Under his leadership and with the aid of philanthropists Robert and Jane Meyerhoff, UMBC established the Meyerhoff Scholars Program in 1998. Originally designed to identify, recruit and prepare future African American scientists, engineers and mathematicians, the highly selective program, which maintains a focus on underrepresented minority students, is now open to all students interested in pursuing advanced degrees and research careers in STEM disciplines (science, technology, engineering and mathematics). The Meyerhoff Scholars family now has more than 800 alumni across the nation, 300 of whom are currently enrolled in graduate or professional programs. In line with the same fundamental beliefs about access and equal opportunity, UMBC established the Center for Women in Technology Scholars Program in 2001 to address the underrepresentation of women in information technology. Hrabowski's experience with the Meyerhoff Scholars Program provided grounding for his longstanding research interest in science and math education. In addition to numerous articles and chapters, he is the co-author of two books, "Beating the Odds: Raising Academically Successful African American Males" and "Overcoming the Odds: Raising Academically Successful African American Young Women." Hrabowski's contributions are not limited to higher education. He has broad influence as a consultant to the National Science Foundation, the National Institutes of Health, the National Academies and the United States Department of Education, among others. A native of Birmingham, Alabama, Hrabowski at the age of 12 was a child-leader in the Civil Rights Movement. He participated in the Children's March in 1963 and spent five days in the Birmingham City Jail for his efforts. He was prominently featured in Spike Lee's 1997 documentary, "Four Little Girls," which told the story of the bombing of Birmingham's Sixteenth Street Baptist Church. Hrabowski is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the American Philosophical Society. He holds honorary degrees from Princeton, Harvard, Duke, Georgetown, Michigan and more than 15 other institutions. In 2008 he was named one of "America's Best Leaders" by U.S. News & World Report. Time named him one of "America's Ten Best College Presidents" in 2009 and one of the "100 Most Influential People in the World" in 2012. Also in 2012, he received the Heinz Award for outstanding accomplishment in improving the human condition.

Honorary Degree Recipient

MARY POPE OSBORNE

DOCTOR OF LETTERS

Mary Pope Osborne is dedicated to the idea that all children should have the opportunity to develop a passion for reading. Once ignited, she believes, that passion can be a fierce motivation for changing their lives for the better. Osborne's first book, "Run, Run, As Fast As You Can" (1982), was a semi-autobiographical story of a young girl growing up in a military family. When Osborne was 15, her own military family settled in Fayetteville, North Carolina, where her father retired. There, she became involved in the Fayetteville Little Theater and her imagination took flight. Osborne enrolled in Carolina, earning her B.A. degree in dramatic art and religious studies in 1971. After traveling all over the Middle East, living in a cave in Crete, enduring an earthquake in Afghanistan, and surviving blood poisoning in Nepal, she settled in Washington, DC, and later married Will Osborne, another UNC alumnus, whom she met while he was acting in "Diamond Studs." Osborne moved to New York City, where she began an extraordinary career as an author. Her most successful work has been the "Magic Tree House" series, in which a brother and sister, Jack and Annie, discover a tree house filled with books near their home. As they read the books, a wish transports the children to each book's time and place. To date, the series includes 50 fiction titles, plus 25 "Fact Tracker" nonfiction companion titles. The series has been published in more than 35 languages and has sold more than 100,000,000 copies. It is the most popular series of children's books of all time. Will Osborne has created a full-scale musical adaptation, "Magic Tree House: The Musical," that premiered in 2007, and his "Magic Tree House: Space Mission" plays daily at the Morehead Planetarium and Science Center here in Chapel Hill. Osborne's honors include the Ludington Memorial Award from the Educational Paperback Association, a Lifetime Achievement Award from the Random House Sales Force, and the presidency of the Authors Guild (1993–1997). Osborne is a leading advocate for literacy on a global scale, working to provide access to books for children in need throughout the world. As a gift to educators and their students, in 2012, Osborne created Mary Pope Osborne's Classroom Adventures Program, which provides lesson plans and other resources free of charge to teachers, and Mary Pope Osborne's Gift of Books, which donates collections of "Magic Tree House" books to underserved schools around the country.

THE CHANCELLOR'S MEDAL

The chancellor's medal, an emblem of the office of chancellor, is worn during the University's ceremonial occasions. The sterling silver disk, which is three inches in diameter and seven ounces Troy weight, was given to the University by John Sanders, professor emeritus and former director of the UNC Institute of Government, and his wife, Ann Beal Sanders. Modeled by sculptor Pete Hinton and bearing the University seal, it was first worn by Chancellor Paul Hardin during the 1994 University Day convocation.

THE BICENTENNIAL STAFF

The faculty marshal carries the bicentennial staff while leading the faculty processional on ceremonial occasions such as Commencement and University Day. The staff, commissioned for the University's 1993 bicentennial celebration by John Sanders, professor emeritus and former director of the UNC Institute of Government, and his wife, Ann Beal Sanders, was modeled by sculptor Pete Hinton. It consists of a sterling silver three-inch-high replica of the Old Well mounted on a turned and tapered oak shaft. The shaft was made from timber salvaged from the 1822 section of Old West residence hall during its 1991–1993 renovation.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

The University seal typically appears on diplomas and graduation materials, grade transcripts and documents that indicate accomplishment in or on behalf of the University.

CLASS OF 1963 CELEBRATES GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

As part of their 50th class reunion, representatives from Carolina's Class of 1963 will join the academic processional at commencement and will precede the undergraduates. Watch for these most recent inductees into the General Alumni Association's Old Students Club, who will be adorned in Carolina blue gowns and wearing medallions commemorating their golden anniversary reunion.

of North Carolina, designed in 1790, showed the face of Apollo and his emblem, the rising sun, used to symbolize the dawn of higher education in the state. The words "SIGUL UNIVERSITAT CAROL SEPTENT" (Seal of the University of North Carolina) surrounded the drawing.

A modification in 1895 added lighted torches of learning beside Apollo's profile. Two years later another alteration replaced Apollo's head with a shield on which the words Lux (light) and Libertas (liberty), separated by a white band running from the upper right to the lower left of the shield, appeared.

In the 1940s, some observers mistakenly claimed the white stripe on the shield was a bend sinister, a heraldic code that was demeaning. In truth, the stripe was a bar sinister and merely denoted a second or later son. Still, the direction of the stripe was reversed, removing any question of stigma.

Today's seal is the same as the 1897 version, except the stripe runs from the upper left to the lower right.

UNIVERSITY COLORS

As symbols of unity among Carolina students, alumni and fans, the school colors of light blue and white were first used around 1800 to distinguish between members of the Dialectic and Philanthropic Literary Societies. Throughout the 19th century, students were required to be members of either the Di or the Phi. The Di's color was light blue, and the Phi's was white.

At University commencements, balls and other social events, the student officials, managers and marshals wore the color of their society, blue or white. Because the chief marshal or chief ball manager represented the whole student body, not just his society, he wore both colors.

When the University fielded its first intercollegiate athletic teams in 1888, the question of what colors to wear had already been answered. Light blue and white had come to symbolize membership in the University, not in a single society.

THE BELL TOWER

The Morehead–Patterson Memorial Bell Tower was given to the University in 1931 by John Motley Morehead III and Rufus Lenoir Patterson. Its 14-bell carillon rings both manually and electronically to call students to class, provide twilight music and serenade the dispersing crowd after football games. Rising 172 feet, the tower is surrounded by a hedge and lawn designed by William C. Coker, botany professor and creator of the campus Arboretum.

MUSIC

Graduates, families and friends attending Commencement weekend will have several opportunities to hear the University's beloved "Hark the Sound" and James Taylor's classic "Carolina in My Mind." These songs evoke the feelings of loyalty and friendship that students, alumni and true blue Tar Heels everywhere have for the University. But the orchestral marches that accompany the commencement processionals are equally memorable for their power and splendor. They are truly fitting musical celebrations of the talent and achievements of UNC–Chapel Hill's visiting dignitaries, faculty and graduates.

During Saturday's Doctoral Hooding ceremony and Sunday's main Commencement ceremony, members of the academic processional will be welcomed by the fanfare brass, woodwinds and drums of Nikolai Rimsky-Korsakov's "Procession of the Nobles" and Richard Strauss' "Königsmarsch." Rimsky-Korsakov wrote his majestic march to open the second act of the opera-ballet "Mlada," which premiered in Saint Petersburg, Russia, in 1892. Strauss premiered the flourishing "Königsmarsch" at a palace concert in Berlin in 1907.

The new graduates will exit the ceremonies while hearing familiar Carolina melodies in "Tar Heel Rhapsody," a composition written specifically for the University that features its school songs.

DEGREES WITH DISTINCTION

To graduate with distinction or with highest distinction, undergraduate students must have completed at least 45 academic hours at UNC–Chapel Hill and have an overall grade point average of at least 3.5 or 3.8, respectively.

UNDERGRADUATE HONORS PROGRAM

Honors Carolina offers exceptionally well-qualified first-year students, sophomores and juniors an opportunity to take part of their general education curriculum in special honors seminars and honors sections. Honors seminars are special topics courses, limited in enrollment to 15 students and taught by outstanding members of the University faculty. Honors sections of regular departmental course offerings are also limited in enrollment and are taught by permanent members of the University faculty. Honors seminars and sections emphasize critical reading, class discussion and expository writing.

Senior departmental honors programs are provided for students who have demonstrated a very high level of scholastic ability and achievement and who desire to pursue an intensive, individualized program of study in their major discipline. Honors studies ordinarily consist of one or more of the following: the preparation of an honors thesis or essay, an independent research or reading program, an artistic performance or exhibition, or the completion of advanced course work in the major not normally required of students in that major. It is on the basis of participation in senior honors that a student may be graduated from the University "with Honors" or "with Highest Honors."

* Indicates probable candidates for degrees with distinction or highest distinction based on grade point average going into the final semester.

\+ Indicates Honors recipients.

++ Indicates Highest Honors recipients.

CONFERRING OF THE HOOD, TURNING OF THE TASSEL

At a certain point in a Commencement ceremony, a gesture or action symbolically indicates that the degree has been conferred. For doctoral degree candidates, that symbolic action is called the "hooding." During Saturday's Hooding ceremony, doctoral degree candidates will be conferred with a hood by the provost and either their advisor or dissertation committee chair. For undergraduates, the gesture is the turning of the tassel. At the beginning of the main Commencement ceremony on Sunday, undergraduate degree candidates will wear their tassels on the right side of the mortarboard (cap). Then, at the moment when their degrees are awarded, they will move them to the left side. Upon turning the tassel or being hooded, a student transitions from degree candidate to graduate.

ACADEMIC DRESS

The following information, based in part on An Academic Costume Code and Ceremony Guide (published by the American Council on Education), may be helpful in identifying academic attire worn during UNC's Commencement exercises.

DEGREE CANDIDATES' REGALIA. The University's bachelor's gown was redesigned in 2011 by award-winning colorist and fashion designer Alexander Julian — a Chapel Hill native and UNC alumnus — to be both Carolina blue and truly green, as in sustainably made. The fabric for the True Blue gown is made from 100 percent post-consumer recycled plastic bottles (23 bottles for each gown) and is manufactured at mills in the Carolinas. The information about the gown's sustainability is suitably printed directly on the cloth, without the use of an extra label. In addition to being dyed a custom Carolina blue color, the True Blue gowns also have a more streamlined fit, white piping along the yoke and two white panels in front. The tassels are blue and white, topped with a silver-colored Old Well medallion. An optional accessory is an embroidered white stole that the graduate may give to a parent in gratitude after the Commencement ceremony.

The untrimmed, black master's gown has a hood and an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist, that hangs nearly to the ground; the back part of its oblong shape is square cut and the arc in the front is cut away. The hooded doctoral gown features three bars across each sleeve. In 1999, the Faculty Council authorized a special doctoral gown for Carolina graduates. It is Carolina blue, with facings and crossbars of dark blue outlined in white piping. The facings bear the shield of the University supported by the torches of learning.

The hoods of master's and doctoral degree candidates vary in color according to the field of study (see list below).

This Commencement weekend, some students will be wearing special cords. Gold cords will be worn by Honors graduates, and blue and white cords will be worn by Public Service Scholars.

FACULTY REGALIA. Faculty wear the regalia of the institution that conferred their highest degree. The doctoral gowns are usually faced with black velvet, although the color of the velvet may vary according to the field of study. Hoods, which differ in length according to the level of the degree held, are lined with official colors of the university or college that conferred the degree, usually with one color forming a chevron pattern over the other. Some colors you will see on faculty and administrators' robes are, for example, the crimson of Harvard, the maroon of Chicago, the orange and black of Princeton, the dark blue of Yale, and the light blue and white of North Carolina.

Like the hoods of master's and doctoral degree candidates, faculty hoods are edged and bound with velvet in the color appropriate to the field of study. The colors in the hoods and gowns of faculty and administrators represent the following fields in which degrees were taken:

APRICOT: Nursing
BROWN: Fine Arts
CITRON: Social Work
CRIMSON: Journalism
DARK BLUE: Philosophy
GOLDEN YELLOW: Science
GREEN: Medicine
LEMON YELLOW: Library Science
LIGHT BLUE: Education
LILAC: Dentistry
OLIVE GREEN: Pharmacy
ORANGE: Engineering
PEACOCK BLUE: Public Administration
PINK: Music
PURPLE: Law
SAGE GREEN: Physical Education
SALMON PINK: Public Health
SCARLET: Theology
YELLOW BROWN: Commerce, Business, Accountancy
WHITE: Arts, Letters, Humanities
